

Support theorem and Consistency Problem for interest rate models

Toshiyuki Nakayama

(Mitsubishi UFJ Securities)

Let us introduce support theorem and viability theorem for SPDE's including HJM framework. This is closely related to the consistency problem between methods of making yield curves and volatility structures in HJM models. The consistency is very important to stabilize daily volatility calibration.